What Can You Do

With the keyboard as his weapon, the bully entered my home and murdered my child just as surely as if he had walked thru the door and pulled the trigger . It was not a death that was quick and merciful. It was cold, calculated and committed with lies, rumors and cruelty dished out day by day, week by week, until he could no longer take it . . .

Home is no longer the sanctuary it once was for victims of bullies to escape their torture. Now bullies can stalk their prey after school hours long after their targets have gone home.

Social isolation, public humiliation and malicious gossip have long been the tools of bullies. Now with hi-speed computers and cell phones making their message instantly available to millions, the bully's reach and powers of manipulation have increased.

Don't be an accomplice!
